Re: Updated Stable Area / Training and Live Racing Access Protocols

In accordance with recently released recommended guidelines regarding the containment and reduction in transmission of COVID-19 (Coronavirus) it has become essential to update the access protocols to the stable area and those areas visited by CHRBR licensees during training and live racing operations.

Effective immediately, access to the stable area will be limited to CHRBR licensed owners, trainers and essential credentialed employees of trainers. Non-credentialed family members and guests are not allowed access. This does not apply to racing officials, CHRBR investigators or personnel, security personnel, fire protection personnel and on-duty law enforcement personnel. The same access restrictions apply to morning workouts/training.

Live racing may only be attended by licensed owners on days they are running a horse in a race at Santa Anita. Those owners may be accompanied by a maximum of two guests. The owner/trainer box seats will be available for seating and can be accessed from the apron staircases. No concessions or on-site wagering services will be open until further notice.

Trainers and essential employees of trainers will be allowed to attend the races, with no guests allowed.

Security personnel are tasked with implementing this new protocol and it is requested that any issues with these changes be addressed through administrative channels rather than directly with guards or gatemen controlling entry points. These protocols are understandably inconvenient to everyone affected, but are necessary to ensure the health and safety of our employees, licensees and ultimately the public at large. Your cooperation, understanding and patience during this difficult time is greatly appreciated by everyone here at Santa Anita.
